CAPIO MENTORSHIP: How it works

- Applications are accepted from January to March annually.
- The official program will run annually from April 2 to March 31, with the opportunity for the mentee/mentor to meet in person at CAPIO’s conference held each April in various locations across the state.
- Mentor/mentee pairs will meet four times per year (in person, by phone or video chat) for at least one hour each time.
- Participants will be matched to the best extent possible based on location, industry, experience and desired outcomes.
- Each pair is provided $100 from CAPIO to help with the cost of in-person meetings. This budget may be used for travel expenses and meal reimbursements only. Participants are expected to cover all additional program expenses.
- While CAPIO’s Mentoring Program organizer will check in periodically with participants, participants are ultimately responsible for the success of their mentoring relationship.
- Participants will be asked to provide feedback during and after the program to help CAPIO continue to provide exceptional programming to its members.

About CAPIO

CAPIO is a professional association serving nearly 800 public sector communicators in California. While many communication principles are universal, government communicators face unique requirements, challenges and demands from their communities and stakeholders. At CAPIO, we help our members develop and advance as communication professionals to meet the needs of their agencies.

CAPIO is committed to providing our members with ongoing learning and development—which is key to our members’ success. Studies have shown that mentoring is one of the most valuable and effective professional development opportunities. Having the guidance and encouragement of a mentor can shape your career for years to come.

CAPIO’s Mentoring Program was developed to help foster the growth of our members through two-way learning. Mentees in CAPIO’s program have direct access to seasoned communication professionals from across the state and from varying backgrounds to support achievement, success, learning, and growth. Additionally, this relationship also benefits the participating mentors by providing opportunities to expand their leadership skills, share their experiences and insights, and learn from the experiences of their mentees.

What are some topics/ideas I should discuss with my Mentor/Mentee?

While mentors and mentees spend quite a bit of time together with plenty of topics to discuss, there are catalysts and accelerant topics/activities that create energy in the mentoring experience, according to a 2015 study by Rik Nemanick. The following mentor/mentee activities can be considered to develop a dialogue or expand knowledge:

- Reading assignments on a topic of interest to expand the knowledge of a mentee.
- Informational interviews arranged by the mentor with someone in his or her network for the mentee.
- Job shadowing arrangement for the mentee to shadow the mentor or another seasoned professional to learn through observation.
- Education/training to help close knowledge gaps as well as shore up gaps holding the mentee back from his or her goals.
- Stretch assignments for the mentee to take on in his or her current role to help extend learning.

The information on the center and right pages of this brochure are provided by Dr. Mary Ann Pearson, a thought-leader in the field of mentoring, and are for CAPIO use only.

How can I get the most out of CAPIO’s Mentoring Program as Mentee or Mentor?

- Be proactive in reaching out to your mentor/mentee and available in a time of need and respond quickly.
- Provide leads for opportunities. These opportunities may be job leads, additional support and training or an opportunity to serve on a committee and/or board.
- Embrace and celebrate diversity.
- Celebrate big and small victories.
- Communicate honestly with support and confidence.
- Teach mentees to become mentors who can encourage others to establish an inclusive, mentoring culture.
- Allow the relationship to change and evolve from a strict mentorship to a friendship with mentoring at the center of it.
