There is no magic bullet when it comes to good public engagement. Every community is unique and the challenges and opportunities they face are diverse. But if there is no one-size-fits-all engagement solution, there are a number of common mistakes local governments make in planning and executing engagement. This webinar looks at 10 of the biggest mistakes you may not even know you are making (and how to avoid them). Because knowing what not to do is the first step toward getting public engagement right from the start!
